Studying Business at UC

Mix-and-match

Te Kura Umanga | UC Business School covers a wide range of subjects including accounting, entrepreneurship, tourism marketing and management. You will have the opportunity to tailor your degree to your interests and job goals.

Practical learning

There may be opportunities to participate in placements with organisations; create a start-up with Te Pokapū Rakahinonga UC Centre for Entrepreneurship (UCE) or student-run club entré; learn about trading at our trading room; or participate in business challenges where you can work on real-life cases and come up with solutions for local organisations, and more.

Global learning

Te Kura Umanga | UC Business School has various international opportunities through UC global exchange and study tours with our partner universities. An overseas experience during your studies will give you a multicultural perspective on business that is highly valued by employers.

Business and culture

Kaupapa Māori is integrated into our courses, so you can learn about Māori values and culture in a business setting. Alongside our Māori Indigenous knowledge, learn about Aotearoa New Zealand's place in diverse cultural contexts in order to create strong relationships, locally and globally.

Student life

With 160+ active clubs on campus, you will be able to pursue your interests outside your studies and try new hobbies.

You can also enhance your studies with clubs that are relevant to your degree such as:

- Investment Society
- UC Women in Business
- UC Commerce Society
- Accounting Society.

'I spent five weeks in China with 25 other students. We went to a university in Hangzhou where we learned about language and culture. Then we visited New Zealand businesses who have headquarters in Shanghai and Beijing.'

Julie
Bachelor of Commerce in International Business, Graduate Diploma in Teaching and Learning

Work-Integrated Learning

Set yourself apart by engaging with Work-Integrated Learning at UC. As part of your degree, you are able to apply what you learn in your courses to practical settings like internships, projects, and competitions with industry.

This hands-on approach not only enriches your education, but also helps you develop essential skills, gain valuable industry insights, and build a professional network, — so you can put your best foot forward as you transition into work. See page 15 to learn about our internship programme called PACE.

Career opportunities

You can open up many career choices by studying business at UC. As well as business knowledge and skills, you will gain transferable skills that can be used in different fields of work.

Graduates have combined their personal interests and knowledge to work in careers such as accounting, human resource management, finance, economics, marketing, taxation, and operations and supply chain management.

Degrees

Degrees are a type of qualification you can study at university — there are several types of qualifications varying in level of study and length of time, such as:

Bachelor's degrees

A bachelor's degree is an undergraduate qualification that usually takes 3–4 years to complete. We offer many bachelor's degrees.

Certificates and Diplomas

If you are unable to study a full degree, or want to add some additional study to your degree, you could complete a certificate or diploma. These have fewer courses and are often completed in 6 months to a year.

Subjects

Subjects are areas you can study in your degree. Some subjects you can continue from secondary school such as Economics, Accounting, Business Studies, while some you can start new at UC like Marketing, Business Analytics, or Finance.

Major

A major is the main subject you choose to study all the way to the final year of your bachelor's degree. For example, a Bachelor of Commerce majoring in Finance.

Double major

In some degrees, you are able to specialise in two main subjects — this is called a double major. These two majors can be completed in the same time as a single major.

Minor

A minor is another smaller subject focus you can take in your degree, which you won't study as extensively as a major. For example, a Bachelor of Commerce majoring in Management with a minor in Business and Sustainability.

It is not compulsory to do a minor.

Courses

A course is a specific topic within a subject, for example an international trade course within the International Business subject. This involves lectures, assignments, and other forms of study. Your degree is made up of multiple courses.

Points

Each course has a points value — 1 point is equivalent to 10 hours of study. You will need to complete a certain number of points overall to successfully finish your study.

Semester

The academic year is split into three periods of study. One semester is the equivalent of two terms at secondary school.

- Semester 1: February – June
- Semester 2: July – November
- Summer: November – February.

Accounting

“Accounting opens the door to several career paths, whether it be as a small town Chartered Accountant or a top executive at a company.”

Sara

Bachelor of Commerce with Honours in Accounting and Information Studies

Accountants assess and report on the performance of organisations, and inform decisions about pricing, costs, systems and processes, investments, organisational strategy, and management. They also check if relevant rules and laws have been followed and ensure that the information is reliable and up-to-date.

At UC, you will learn about accounting, auditing, tax rules and practices, and the role accountants play in many contexts including public, private, environmental, and political.

What will my study involve?

- Learn about important issues such as business ethics and corporate social responsibility, data analytics, cryptocurrencies, and the increasing challenges of globalisation.
- By taking specific courses, you can qualify for provisional membership with professional bodies such as Chartered Accountants of Australia and New Zealand (CA ANZ), CPA Australia, and the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), or other international organisations, which means you can become a certified, chartered accountant.
- You can minor in Accounting in a large number of bachelor's degrees to add accounting and financial knowledge to your studies.

Courses

You will take introductory courses in cashflow and profit reporting; accounting for managers; and taxation, followed by advanced study in business, government performance, cost management, and accounting theory and practice.

Topics can include:

- financial accounting and reporting
- management accounting
- auditing and assurance
- legal responsibilities of businesses.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

This subject provides a solid foundation for a successful professional career in areas such as consulting, taxation, auditing, organisational control and management, investments, and financial management.

Career pathways could include:

- chartered accountant
- auditing and assurance
- chief executive officer
- forensic accounting.

Business Analytics

Business Analytics brings in data from areas such as accounting, marketing, and economics to help make better business decisions, improve customer services, and implement growth strategies using tools like machine learning.

What will my study involve?

- Use data to recognise and plan future developments, and identify new business opportunities.
- Flexible study so you can focus on your interests such as accounting, marketing, economics, and software programming.
- Include Business Analytics as a minor in a wide range of degrees for a data-informed career.

Courses

First-year courses will introduce you to collecting and reading data. Later courses will allow you to focus on a particular area such as finance, business economics, and information systems.

Topics can include:

- managing large sets of data
- information software and new technologies
- marketing and recognising customer trends
- ethics of gathering data.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

Having the skills to analyse and interpret data will make you an important part of growing businesses and keeping our world more informed. Data scientists are in demand as it is an area that faces significant skills shortages globally.

Career pathways could include:

- business analyst
- marketer
- strategic consultant
- data scientist.

Business and Sustainability

Sustainability is an important issue and more people are holding businesses accountable with their impact on the environment and climate change.

The link between business and sustainability involves improving processes from manufacture to end user, so that we are minimising waste and impact, and rethinking business strategies to take care of the world we live in. This includes looking after communities, individuals, and the planet.

What will my study involve?

- Learn business approaches to environmental and social challenges through interactive lessons and case studies.
- Explore corporate performance from ethical, global, and multicultural perspectives.
- Customise your degree by including this minor in a wide range of bachelor's degrees.

Courses

Business and Sustainability includes courses from a variety of subjects to build your management and problem-solving skills, and explore the current obstacles faced by industry.

Economics

“Economics is applicable to almost every area of employment.”

Madi

Bachelor of Commerce in Economics, Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and International Relations

Economics is the study of how people behave and make decisions — how we use our resources, how we deal with issues like climate change, which career we choose, and more. These decisions involve trade-offs between costs and benefits, and we are constantly considering these in our everyday life.

At UC, there are lots of opportunities to gain experience including industry projects, internships, clubs, and overseas study trips.

What will my study involve?

- Learn about the impact of your choices on the world, and how foreign countries impact Aotearoa New Zealand's economy.
- Work experience may be available in your final year.
- Economics major and minor is available in many degrees so you can combine studies with other relevant areas such as Finance, Political Science and International Relations, and Psychology.

Information Systems

“Information Systems is an exciting and continually growing industry with multiple directions for potential career paths, especially right now here in Christchurch.”

Henry

Bachelor of Commerce in Information Systems

Information systems and digital technology play a major role in organisations and in delivering products and services. With Information Systems (IS), we can change how we work, communicate, and do business.

IS is about how businesses use information technology to become smarter, better, faster, and achieve their strategic goals. By providing access to information, IS enables organisations to create value, provide solutions, and use technology to innovate and to create new opportunities.

What will my study involve?

- Develop knowledge to address practical problems of how to access information, how to design, develop, and deliver IT solutions, as well as how to manage IS projects, personnel, and resources.
- Learn through industry and group projects, lab work, and extracurricular activities.
- Flexible study options – you can take courses like marketing, accounting, data science, software engineering, entrepreneurship, alongside information systems.
- Take part in business and entrepreneurial projects and events and find support at Te Pokapū Rakahinonga | UC Centre for Entrepreneurship.

Courses

In addition to foundational commerce courses such as accounting, finance, microeconomics, information systems and technology, management, and statistics, you can choose foundational courses in computer programming, computer science, or databases.

Topics can include:

- business systems analysis
- business intelligence and analytics
- web design and development
- information systems project management.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

Information Systems is one of the fastest growing areas for study and employment. It is on the long-term skill shortage list for Aotearoa and there is also a global shortage.

Through your studies, in addition to technical skills, you will learn workplace skills like project management, process management, governance and strategy, communication, and problem-solving.

Career pathways could include:

- IT project manager
- user experience designer
- IS/IT consultant
- business intelligence/data analyst.

canterbury.ac.nz/life/jobs-and-careers

Marketing

“Marketing is such a universal degree, and it can take you in so many directions. It helps to build a well-rounded character by improving skills including public speaking, writing and communication, and professionalism.”

Charlotte

Bachelor of Commerce in Marketing and Finance

Marketing goes beyond advertising and sales pitches — it analyses customer needs to design and produce goods or services that match buyer expectations, or even convinces them to change their buying habits.

UC's Marketing degree is focused on building your practical skills and includes real-world marketing opportunities.

What will my study involve?

- Learn a wide range of skills, such as advertising products, digital marketing, understanding consumer behaviour, and customer experience.
- Internships and practical projects taken as part of your studies count towards your degree and help enhance your work-ready skills.
- Opportunities to get involved in annual UC-wide competitions such as inter-university business challenges, entré for young entrepreneurs, and Te Pokapū Rakahinonga | UC Centre for Entrepreneurship that connects you with local businesses.
- Add Marketing study to many of UC's degrees to learn about customer trends and experiences specific to your business interests.

Courses

The first-year course teaches you the basics of marketing theories and concepts. Further study can include courses that cover everything in creating and analysing marketing for different uses.

Topics can include:

- customer experience
- digital marketing
- tourism, hospitality, and events marketing
- consumer behaviour and marketing research.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

A degree in Marketing prepares you for a career in a variety of industries or professions that value creative communicators, analytical thinkers, and individuals driven by people and clients. With businesses and technologies constantly evolving, a Marketing graduate will always be sought after.

Operations and Supply Chain Management

“My studies helped me better understand the overall picture and why my job is important as part of the process. It has taught me time management, organisation, efficiency, and accuracy are key, as well as adaptability and forward thinking in the supply chain context.”

Tanisha

Ngāti Raukawa

Bachelor of Commerce in Operations and Supply Chain Management, Strategy and Entrepreneurship, and Management

Operations and Supply Chain Management involves bringing together organisational resources (people, money, materials, and buildings) for the production of goods or services. Fundamentally, supply chain management is about matching the supply of resources and goods with the demands of the marketplace.

Operations and supply chain managers make sure the processes are smooth, efficient, and sustainable, and are always thinking of ways to make improvements.

What will my study involve?

- Courses focus on issues such as operations strategy, performance management, procurement and distribution, product and process design, and inventory management.
- Investigate answers to questions such as: how do you make sure that people, money, materials, and buildings are used efficiently across the whole organisation? How can we ensure that our organisation is successful in achieving its goals?

Courses

First year will cover a range of management, economics, accounting, and information systems courses.

Topics can include:

- management decision making
- supply chain management
- strategic operations
- micro and macroeconomics.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

You will learn to focus on the details of processes and use skills like cross-communication, collaboration, time management, and planning to efficiently deliver value to customers.

With these skills, you will be able to take on a wide range of roles from logistics to risk management.

Career pathways could include:

- operations management
- production and distribution
- risk forecasting
- procurement analysis.

canterbury.ac.nz/life/jobs-and-careers

Study Operations and Supply Chain Management:

As a Major:

- Bachelor of Commerce

As a Minor:

- Bachelor of Arts
- Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Digital Screen with Honours
- Bachelor of Health Sciences
- Bachelor of Product Design
- Bachelor of Science
- Bachelor of Social and Environmental Sustainability
- Bachelor of Sport
- Bachelor of Youth and Community Leadership

Professional and Community Engagement (PACE)

Professional and Community Engagement (PACE) courses are all about applying what you learn in your studies to a non-academic “real-world” setting.

PACE is an ideal complement to your degree – take it as a one-off course or as a minor in your degree programme. PACE courses provide an opportunity to give you confidence in the workplace.

What will my study involve?

- Half of PACE courses are held as workshops where you can develop professional skills and half in the workspace where you can put that knowledge to use.
- You will be matched with your internship based on your studies and your interests. Past internships include media and communications, event organisation, marketing, health, and policy analysis.

Courses

From second year, you can add a workplace project or an internship to your studies.

Topics can include:

- internship projects (based on your degree subject)
- project management process
- career development portfolio and CV building
- presentation skills.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

PACE students have an edge over other graduates. Learning to identify the strengths you bring to the workplace and understanding how your degree has prepared you to work with local and international communities will give you the confidence you need to enter your new career.

Study PACE:

PACE can be taken as a one-off course in many degrees, or studied as a minor in some degrees. Learn more about PACE on our website.

Strategy and Entrepreneurship

Strategy and Entrepreneurship focuses on the overall development of businesses, involving the process of identifying objectives, developing plans to achieve these, and allocating resources in order to grow business.

What will my study involve?

- Learn to recognise opportunities and develop core business skills in planning, project management, and teamwork.

Taxation and Accounting

Taxation is about more than creating and charging taxes — it distributes money to public goods and services, and can be a tool to influence behaviour.

This study involves many different subject areas, including law, economics, and even psychology to help us understand the impact of taxation on society.

What will my study involve?

- Take a range of courses from legal, accounting, and practical perspectives that prepare you for a professional career in taxation and accounting.
- Apply your learning through internships and international study options.
- By taking specific courses in this major, you can gain external qualifications and membership with CPA Australia, Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CA ANZ), the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), and other professional accounting bodies internationally.
- Complete a minor in Taxation or Accounting within a range of bachelor's degrees to add understanding of tax and policy to your other studies.

Courses

You will be introduced to the whole taxation process and legal systems around tax, and go onto advanced courses examining taxation and accounting in many contexts including retail, tourism, and farming.

Topics can include:

- government and service tax
- international taxation
- tax avoidance, evasion, and investigation
- income taxation (property sales, employment, stocks, etc).

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

Study in taxation will set you up with the skills and knowledge needed to work as a taxation specialist or as a chartered accountant in Aotearoa or internationally.

Career pathways could include:

- finance manager
- business analyst
- tax consultant or auditor
- forensic accountant.

Tourism Marketing and Management

This subject has a strong focus on the management and marketing of tourism, including destination marketing, impacts of tourism on the environment and local culture, Māori and Indigenous tourism, and specialised marketing in the hospitality and events sectors.

You will also focus on sustainable and resilient tourism operations, how to responsibly develop tourism, and finding the balance between 'overtourism' and 'undertourism'.

What will my study involve?

- Hands-on learning through internships and final-year industry projects. You can also go on an international exchange with one of UC's global partners.
- A focus on cultural and natural resources management and tourism issues in Aotearoa.
- Choose courses that develop your expertise in an area that interests you such as foreign policy, languages, entrepreneurship, or digital marketing.
- You will learn from lecturers with expertise in marketing and tourism research, and industry experience.

Courses

Courses will introduce you to principles of marketing, marketing research, and tourism management.

Topics can include:

- tourism, hospitality, and events marketing
- sustainable tourism and destinations
- marketing research
- hospitality marketing and management.

canterbury.ac.nz/courseinfo

Career opportunities

Your studies will set you up with applied skills like project management, behavioural change, bicultural competence, marketing research and communication, and sustainable tourism benchmarking and monitoring.

In particular, your experience in Aotearoa tourism will be highly valued in the industry, which needs managers with bicultural expertise to grow our economy and smaller tourism enterprises.

Career pathways could include:

- destination management and marketing
- events coordination and marketing

Double and conjoint degrees

If you are really keen, you can combine bachelor's degrees. There are two ways of doing this – double and conjoint degrees.

Double degrees

Some bachelor's degrees can be studied together. This allows you to really specialise your study, opening up a wider range of career options.

Conjoint degrees

Conjoint degrees combine two bachelor's degrees into one degree. Unlike double degrees, these must be completed at the same time, and involve a much higher workload each year.

There are currently four conjoint degrees with Commerce:

- Conjoint Bachelor of Commerce and Arts
- Conjoint Bachelor of Commerce and Science
- Conjoint Bachelor of Commerce and Product Design
- Conjoint Bachelor of Commerce and Engineering with Honours.

NOTE: A Future Student Advisor can help you plan your studies. See page 25 for contact details.

The table below compares the two ways of studying:

	Double degree	Conjoint degree
Entrance requirements	University Entrance (UE).	UE and at least Level 3 endorsed in Merit.
Academic requirement to continue each year of degree	Standard passing grades apply.	Must maintain a grade average of at least a B each year.
Workload per year	Standard (120 points). Approximately eight (15-point) courses per year.	Increased (135 points). Approximately nine (15-point) courses per year. Must take at least one course from each qualification each year.
Graduate	You can either complete both at the same time or one after the other.	Both degrees must be completed before you can graduate.
Minimum timeframe	5–6 years (depending on degrees).	4 years.
Majors/minors	As required/permitted for each degree. Multiple majors (eg, double major in a single degree) and minors are possible.	Maximum of one major in each degree. Minors may be possible; and a minor is required for the BA.
Number of qualifications gained	Two – you gain both degrees.	One – a conjoint combines the courses into just one degree.

“I immediately felt a sense of support at UC and the value of whanaungatanga. The way UC advocates for student wellbeing showed me the importance of tiakitanga. And finally, the way lecturers listened to my goals and helped me create a plan to achieve them showed me the UC value of manaakitanga.”
